

EVERY GIFT BUILDS A BETTER FUTURE FOR AFRICA.

For me, an investment in Ashesi is an investment in creating real change. It's the difference between investing in one organization or investing in an incubator that will generate thousands of people who will go on to change the world.

-Sangu Delle, CEO, Africa Health Holdings

For over two decades, Ashesi has been educating a new generation of ethical, entrepreneurial leaders who are transforming the lives of millions across the Continent. Donors give in many ways to support Ashesi's mission. Every gift makes a difference, but some gifts require additional planning – and sometimes professional help – to ensure that goals are met.

As you think about the difference you would like to make, it can be helpful to think about gifts as falling into three categories, each with their own set of considerations: annual gifts, special gifts, and planned gifts.

Annual Giving

Donors who make Ashesi a regular part of their giving make a difference for Ashesi students, faculty, and leadership every day. Most donors choose to make annual gifts without restrictions, giving Ashesi leadership a powerful and flexible tool that allows them to say “yes” to great new ideas. However, some donors choose to support specific priorities including scholarships and faculty support. You can learn about Ashesi's current priorities at www.ashesi.org/priorities and you can make an annual gift online at www.ashesi.org/donate.

Special Giving

Donors make special gifts when they are inspired to make a big difference for Ashesi and its students. Sometimes the inspiration is sparked by a particular program, faculty member, or group of students. Or sometimes it comes from a strong desire to leave a legacy, mark a milestone, or honor a loved one. No matter the source of inspiration, special gifts deepen Ashesi's impact.

Planned Giving

For some donors, making a planned gift is a wonderful way to make a meaningful contribution to support future African leaders while also meeting personal, financial, and philanthropic goals. Planned gifts offer creative, flexible strategies to help you maximize your impact, often while avoiding taxes for you or your heirs.

We Want to Help

There are many things to consider when making a gift to Ashesi. Staff at the Ashesi University Foundation can help you understand your options so you can maximize your impact.
